

30 August 1956

Mr. John T. Campbell, Head
BBC Monitoring Service
Caversham Park
Reading, Berks.
England

Dear John:

I want to apologize for not having written to you sooner announcing my separation from FBIS but the pressure of last minute details are responsible for my negligence. Your letter of 23 August is deeply appreciated and for my part I am confident that whatever success I have had has largely been attributable to the splendid cooperation and friendliness of you and your staff.

Perhaps our official paths will cross again and I can once more have the privilege and pleasure of working with you on a joint endeavor; but I firmly intend that we shall not be disassociated socially as a result of this transfer. If I may I would like to continue to be an American correspondent of yours.

My decision to make this change was painful in many respects but in part at least I was spurred by a desire to serve once again in the field. It is, therefore, not unlikely that I shall be able to visit England in some capacity in the years to come. If and when I do, I shall certainly get in touch with you and, of course, you must let me know when you are coming to Washington again.

Sincerely,

STAT
